REDUCTION OF TAX RATE TO 4½ MILLS ANNOUNCED FOR CO.

Economic Administration of
Bucks' Affairs Makes It Possible

25 PER CENT SINCE '28

Commissioners Will Advise
For Four New Concrete
Bridges

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 26.—Economic and careful administration of the housekeeping affairs of Bucks county by the Board of County Commissioners makes it possible to reduce the county tax rate to four and one-half mills, a decrease of one-half mill over last year.

During the regime of the present Board of Commissioners the county tax rate has been reduced 25 per cent since 1928 when the rate was six cents. There has been a half-mill reduction annually since that time. This record speaks well for the business management of Commissioners Ernest H. Harvey, William S. Schlichter and Clarence Benner.

The Commissioners started off the year 1931 with a balance of $115,000 in the county treasury. The reduction announced today will mean a decrease in the income from tax money amounting to approximately $40,000 this year.

Among the contributing causes that made it possible to reduce the tax rate is the fact that as far back as 1906 the County Commissioners realized the value of building permanent concrete and steel construction bridges to replace the antiquated wooden and iron bridges. This has resulted in a great reduction of the bridge repair bills. The cost of upkeep of bridges has been brought down to very little compared with the many thousands of dollars that were once spent. Better handling of the road construction and upkeep problems has also enabled the Commissioners to reduce the taxes.

The Commissioners authorized that advertisements be inserted in the newspapers of the county asking for bids for the construction of four new county bridges that will replace antiquated structures that have been doing service for many years. The bids are to be returned and opened at the Court House on Monday, March 23.

The proposed new bridges will be as follows: Bridge in Yardley borough over Sandy Run Creek; bridge in Richland township near Richlandtown to replace a bridge over a branch of the Tockick Creek; bridge in Durham township near Durham Furnace over the Durham Creek.

Former County Treasurer Elmer Althouse, of Sellersville, appeared before the Commissioners to further present a plan for the regional planning development of that community.

Mr. Althouse presented a plan to the Commissioners for the development of the section adjacent to the north branch of the Perkiomen Creek between Sellersville and Perkasie for park purposes. The various service clubs of the Sellersville and Perkasie sections are behind the movement and financial assistance has been asked of the Commissioners. No action was taken on the proposition at this time, but the proposition, it is understood, will be considered.

PROPHET CONFESSION INTRODUCED AT TRIAL

Damaging Statements Read
To the Court Despite Objections

DEFENSE OBJECTS TO IT

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26.—(INS)—Forging another link in the chain of evidence on which prosecution hopes to send Mrs. Clara Grace Prophet to the electric chair for the murder of her husband, the Commonwealth introduced the woman's alleged confession into the discussion today despite the objections of defense counsel.

The damaging statements were introduced through the testimony of Inspector of Detectives William Connelly who asserted the accused woman had made two confessions. He read the confessions to the court which differed little from that made by Harold E. Williams, her brother, who was convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to death for his part in the slaying of the accused's husband.

The defense counsel took the confessions and attempted to get an addition from Connelly that Mrs. Prophet had been "deceived" into signing them. The lid was tilted too on the turbulent married life of the couple as defense counsel skillfully questioned witnesses on cross-examination regarding the alleged "hell on earth life" of Mrs. Prophet. It was intimated that Prophet had threatened to kill Mrs. Prophet and their daughter, Ruth, who the accused woman has asserted was her "love child," born prior to her marriage with Prophet.

The defense also implied that Prophet had mistreated the little girl and that he had made life so miserable for his wife that "she could stand it no longer."

Mrs. Prophet appeared in court today dressed in the same black gown she has worn during the five sessions of the trial to date. She appeared nervous and pale from the ordeal so far. The Court room was crowded with spectators, chiefly women.

Jeanne MacMichael gave a recitation called "Washington." Another recitation called George Washington was rendered by Marguerite Edelman. The students sang "Neapolitan Serenade."

The same selection was again rendered by the senior boys. An interesting sketch from Amos 'n' Andy was presented by Lynn Poyner and Ryland Michner. To conclude the program the students sang: "Juanita" and "Sweet Genevieve."

AUTO VICTIM'S BODY SENT TO HIS HOME

Reuben Cohen, Philadelphia,
Killed at Oxford Valley
Yesterday

OTHER COUNTY NEWS

The body of Reuben Cohen, 25 years old, of 436 South 56th street, Philadelphia, who was killed in an automobile accident on the Lincoln Highway at Oxford Valley yesterday morning, was sent to his late home yesterday afternoon. His death was due to a fractured skull and internal injuries.

William Smith, of the same Philadelphia address, who was riding with Cohen, suffered bruises about the head. He was able to return home after receiving treatment at the McKinley Hospital.

Cohen left home to drive a truck to Newark, accompanied by Smith, and en route the truck crashed into a tree. Both victims were taken to a hospital, where physicians said that Cohen had been killed instantly.

Smith, who says he was asleep when the crash occurred, told authorities that Cohen had been complaining of severe pains in his head and had consulted a stomach specialist on Tuesday. Whether Cohen was attacked with vertigo or fell asleep at the wheel is not known. Trooper Hohlefelder, of the Langhorne State Highway Patrol, investigated.

WORLD PEACE ADVANCE IS TOLD WOMEN HERE

Miss Ellen Starr Brinton Gives Delightful Talk On Mexico

ASKS PEACE SUPPORT

The advance of world peace, with a comparison of the United States' progress with that of other countries, interested a group of Bristol women yesterday afternoon when an informal talk was given by Miss Ellen Starr Brinton in the Travel Club home.

Miss Brinton's interest and knowledge of her subject made it a most interesting one, and much of the period was given over to Mexico, which country is and has been misunderstood for years. This fact was also highly emphasized by the one who yesterday recounted the sessions and travels of the Seminar for Cultural Relations with Latin America, conducted by the Committee on Cultural Relations.

The seminar, participated in by many in the spring and summer of this year, was conducted for the cooperative study of Mexican life and culture, really being a "venture in international understanding."

"Mexico is now a combination of the old and the new, but the new is better and farther advanced than what we have here," was one of the remarks of Miss Brinton that surprised many of her listeners.

The advance of Mexico toward peace was dwelt upon, the matter of the scrapping of the last battleships of that republic being mentioned, as well as the reduction of the standing army to one-third of its original number. Said soldiers are engaged to a great extent in the building of roads, the peace worker explained.

"Most of us have the wrong idea in regards to Mexico," Miss Brinton told. "This country is colorful and interesting." She stated that her belief is that much of the attitude toward Mexico is due to "misstatements in periodicals and newspapers."

The government of Mexico is endeavoring to retain the artistic ability and individualism of the Mexican Indians through educational projects, and some of the results of handicraft by this group was exhibited yesterday by the one telling of that country to the south. Basketry, leathercraft, needlework were included. After showing the type of costumes used on fiesta days, and the style of dress for everyday wear, all of which are woven, knitted and dyed at home, Miss Brinton remarked upon the cleanly habits of this group of people, the middle- or working-class bathing and changing their linen daily.

The method of tilling the soil was hastily gone over, the gathering being informed that the Indian groups as a rule live in small villages on the large plantations, each going out to till the small plots of soil. "They make a comfortable living, and are a happy, industrious group," Miss Brinton related. (Continued on Page 4)

BRISTOL CASES UP

Case

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 26.—Following a petition presented in Court yesterday by District Attorney Arthur M. Eastburn on behalf of Charles Haney, 27, Yardley potter who will go on trial next Monday on a charge of murdering his wife, Mary Haney, President Judge Hiram H. Keller appointed Robert G. Hendricks and Edward Belster, attorneys to defend Haney at the trial, he being without funds to retain counsel personally.

Haney was brought from the county prison to the Court room while the application was made to the court. Both Mr. Hendricks and Mr. Belster were in court and accepted the appointment. They immediately went into conference with the District Attorney and Judge Keller concerning a few matters pertaining to the trial that is scheduled to start Monday. It is understood that no application will be made for a continuance.

After Mrs. Hilda Kurtz, twenty-one, of California, near Quakertown, who pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Keller to a charge of possessing a barrel of wine and beer at the California Hotel, a fine of $250 and costs was imposed. A prison sentence of three months was suspended.

Judge Keller advised the young mother to get out of Bucks county and go and live with her husband and family in Philadelphia. She denied on the witness stand that she was selling liquor at the hotel, and that she herself rented the hotel from a Bethlehem man, her husband living in Philadelphia. She told the Court that she rented the hotel to get the use of a picnic grounds nearby during the summer months. She further informed the Court that she was not aware of the reputation that the hotel bore.

John Carr, of Bristol, who has been before the Court on several other occasions, was acquitted yesterday after Judge Calvin S. Boyer directed a verdict of not guilty of possessing intoxicating liquor. On the question of costs the jury placed them on Carr. The only evidence offered in the case was a bottle which contained about a half-teaspoonful of liquor. It was testified that Carr rushed into his store when the officer came to raid it and broke several bottles by throwing them under the counter.

A jury convicted Paul Kruger, proprietor of the Blue Anchor Inn, Second Street Road and Newtown Pike, yesterday of two charges of possessing intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes. Application was made for a new trial for Kruger through his attorney, John L. DuBois, of Doylestown. Judge Keller fixed the bail at $4,200 pending a motion for a new trial. The Court fixed the argument for next Monday.

"After taking one and one-half bottles of Life Tone, I feel like an entirely new man."

—EDWARD H. SHEPPARD,
913 Newton Ave., Camden

The life of a ferry deck hand is rosy—in the Summer time. But when Winter sets in, with temperatures changing like they do in this part of the country, it's an entirely different thing. One day may be mild, the next cold and stormy, the third dense with fog and the fourth rain, sleet or snow. Regardless of the weather, the ferries must run and the deck hands must be on the job to protect the safety of passengers. Such is a deck hand's life, such are the health hazards he must face.

Ferry Deck Hand Owes Restoration To New Medicine

Such a man is Edward H. Sheppard, 913 Newton Ave., Camden. Sheppard, member of P. O. S. of A., and the Union Methodist Church, has worked for years as a Deck Hand. This constant exposure to the changing elements had its effect on him so that he became afflicted with Kidney Trouble, Pains in the Back, Dizzy Spells, Spots Before the Eyes, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Constipation, Loss of Sleep, Poor Appetite and a General Run-Down Condition.

Through the Life Tone advertisement, Mr. Sheppard was led to secure a sample bottle. After taking the sample, he felt encouraged to buy two bottles of Life Tone, and here's his statement as to the results:

"After taking one and one-half bottles of Life Tone the pains in my back have disappeared. My kidney trouble has left entirely. I have no more dizzy spells nor spots before the eyes. The bad taste in my mouth has left me and I now sleep like a child. I now eat heartily and enjoy my meals and my constipation has disappeared and, in fact, Life Tone has made me an entirely new man."

Such testimonials as these have made Life Tone popular, have led hundreds of people to take it and be relieved. After all, it's only the carrying out of the simple laws of cause and effect. Waste matters and poisons become clogged up in the body and the effect is these common ailments which make life miserable. Life Tone provides the harmless instruments provided by nature which drive out these poisons, assist the organs to function efficiently, and thus bring relief.

Do as your fellow citizens are doing—give Life Tone a chance to help you. Life Tone will prove itself. Life Tone will do for you what it has done for this man and hundreds of others.

You'll like Life Tone's pleasant taste

Two more townships have petitioned the Court of Quarter Sessions of Bucks County asking for an increase in taxes for road purposes.

The board of supervisors of Hilltown township yesterday asked leave to levy an additional road tax of eight mills for 1931, making the total tax 18 mills for that district. The assessed valuation of the district is $1,841,265.

The same kind of petition was presented by the supervisors of East Rockhill township asking leave to levy an additional tax of five mills for road purposes, making the total tax for this year, fifteen mills. The assessed valuation of the township is $552,564.

"My Maryland" Opens For Limited Engagement

For musical beauty, colorful costumes and settings and lyrical grandeur, "My Maryland" set a standard a few seasons ago that has been difficult to rival. Now, in all its former glory, this perfect American operetta has been brought back to life and Philadelphia will be delighted to learn that it commenced a limited engagement at the Shubert Theatre on Saturday evening, February 21st. Its local presentation will be marked by an exceedingly low scale of popular prices.

"My Maryland," as everyone knows, is a delightful and stirring operetta, ranking with "The Student Prince" and "Blossom Time," with charming melodies and real singers to sing them with one of those honest, homely love stories that never grow old and with a male chorus of 60 picked voices that evokes rapturous applause from the audience. Its story tells a gripping tale of a beautiful love between a charming Southern maid and a dashing Yankee officer in the midst of the crashing conflict of the North and the South, and has been embellished with all the heart throbs and melodrama of the historic Civil War itself.

It is in its operatic quality that "My Maryland" has its greatest appeal. Sigmund Romberg has written the music of a timber that vies with the narrative for attention. The score is splendid, well orchestrated, always melodious and attains several stirring climaxes. "Strolling With the One I Love Best" starts off with the light opera manner. "Your Land and My Land," the hit of the show, proves a thumping march tune. "The Same Silver Moon" makes the transition of sentimental ballad. Of like pattern is "Mother" and in more humorous vein are "Old Barleycorn," "Mexico" and "Ker-Choo." Dorothy Donnelly wrote an excellent book for Romberg's exquisite score.

An admirable company, aggregating over a hundred artists in all, will present "My Maryland" here, headed by Ruth Urban, Alexander Callam, Frank Lalor, Betty Byron, Hal Conkling, Maude Odell, Louise Beaudet, Louis Casavant, Arthur Cunningham.

Court Names Attorneys Who Will Defend Haney

Judge Keller yesterday named F. F. Arkhill, a garage owner, $300 and costs, after he had pleaded guilty to transporting three quarter-barrels of beer from Trenton to Philadelphia.

Charged with operating an automobile while drunk on the road between Buckingham and New Hope, W. S. Gilliland, of Pineville, went on trial yesterday before Judge Boyer. Gilliland was arrested by Patrolman Riley Fitzsimmons, of the Edison sub-station of Highway Patrol on December 14, last year. The defendant's car, the Commonwealth charged, ran into another collision resulting in the injury of Rev. Warren Smith, of New Hope.

Dr. Claude L. Taylor, of Doylestown, who examined the defendant, testified that he gave Gilliland the test that he uses on drivers brought to him for examination and that he found him unfit to drive a car.

Cross-examined as to the type of examination given, Dr. Taylor said that among other things, Gilliland was given the following test sentence to repeat: "Around the rugged rock a ragged ruffian ran." The doctor said, however, that failure in this test alone would not prove a man to be under the influence of liquor.

Peter Doroc and John Kampe, of Trenton, convicted of felonious entry, larceny and receiving stolen goods were sentenced yesterday by Judge Boyer to not less than one or more than two years in the county prison.

World Peace Advance Is Told Women Here

mind the women composing her audience that the Aztecs had a very high degree of civilization when our ancestors lived in caves.

The display of raincoats made of palm bark and grasses interested all, as well as the work bags and wash cloths; fashioned of cactus fibres; woven blankets; and colorful pieces of clothing which included beaded garments, leather sandals, etc.

Miss Brinton gave to those attending a number of disarmament petitions asking that those taking same have the places for signatures filled in.

The woman's talk regarding advance toward peace of other nations was one that was enlightening in many respects. In some towns in Germany England has withdrawn all grants for training of cadets, this taking place have signed said petitions for disarmament. "There are only 3700 men under arms in Canada, which number is less than the armed troops there in 1810" was one of the things told those assembled. Regarding other countries: Greece all school books have been examined carefully to ascertain there is nothing therein to give the students a wrong attitude toward other countries.

Miss Brinton asked support of the educational work for peace in a hope that the World Court will be looked upon as a much needed measure by the United States.
